

New 30-credit short course in child and adolescent mental health approaches to supporting children's wellbeing

This new 30-credit short course aims to build awareness of the current issues, evidence, and best practice in child and adolescent mental health. The course is designed for those who are currently working in the children's services sector.

It will support individuals to develop a range of skills to help them to support children's mental health and wellbeing. The course is designed to be delivered over a period of 12 weeks.

Through adoption of a strengths-based approach with a focus on building on differences to the lives of children, experiences of trauma.

This course has been designed with employers in mind to ensure that it provides a valuable and relevant experience to those who are currently working in the children's services sectors.

dashcourses.education.worcester.ac.uk/short-courses

Why study a chart again?

1. The chart is a good example of a well-constructed chart.

2. The chart is a good example of a well-constructed chart.

3. The chart is a good example of a well-constructed chart.